BEADS ADD TO TRIMMING OF WAISTS AND DRESSES

Designers of one-piece dresses have quite outdone their efforts of previous seasons in the charming offerings which they are sending out this spring.

The fashionable silhouette effect is secured by strict adherence to the long lines and artistic draping which accomplishes the most through the use of the least possible amount of material. While certain of the best examples come with ruffles of taffeta, these are for very slender figures, and no buyer at all inclined to stoutness would make the mistake of selecting such a model.

Georgette continues the favorite fabric for these dresses, with of course fine serges in wool. Many of the waists are cut on the new collarless pattern, V-effect front and back.

Much emphasis is laid on smart belts, all sleeves are long, there are touches of gay oriental embroidery on some of the bodices, others are draped in surprise-style. Of course the popular beading is very conspicuous. This beading, by the way, is frequently seen in contrasting colored edges on girdles, handings, cuffs, neck finish, touches on simulated pockets, in fact, everywhere to carry out the favorite fad of the moment for beads, beads, beads.

There are stories told of clever women, who not being able to pay the price for some of these expensively finished smart frocks, have purchased less expensive dresses, adding the bead touches themselves—the effects of their work being rich, modish and satisfactory.

Beads are seen, also, on many of the high priced waists. They are added to the dainty embroidery which figures so largely in the finish of many of the choicest blouses in georgette and voile.

Some of these waists in flesh georgette, embroidered and beaded, are priced $3.50.

Narrow silk fringe, too, is used on a few of the new blouses. One seen Thursday was of white georgette, its silk collar on the sash order being edged with narrow silk fringe. The price tag read $3.50.

At the same time a display was made of white and flesh, satin blouses, cut high neck, which sell for $3.98. A natty touch was given a flesh georgette model by the finish of narrow black grosgrain ends. The price of this beautiful waist is $3.50.

The style display continues daily, early shoppers enjoying the advantage of securing the really new models in handsome frocks and blouses.

As a guide to wise buying, nothing so equal a careful perusal of the advertising columns of The Bulletin daily.

AWARDS LUMP SUM IN COMPENSATION SETTLEMENT

After a hearing in the workmen's compensation claim of William H. Knight of Norwich, N. J., claimant against the Grotton Iron Works, Commissioner J. J. Donahue has made the finding and award that the company shall pay the claimant the lump sum of $1,059.56 which is compensation for 78 weeks for loss of fifty per cent. of use of hand. This is at the rate of $14 per week, commuted at 4 per cent. and is to constitute a complete settlement in the case. Knight was a machinist and had his hand badly lacerated and is now broken on Dec. 24, 1918. It was agreed that Knight had suffered a 50 per cent. loss of the use of his hand.

CLAIMS HUSBAND WAS INTOLERABLY CRUEL

On the grounds of intolerable cruelty from the day of their marriage on February 24, 1915, Arlene Howard, nee of New London is bringing suit for divorce from Laurie R. Sawyer, also of New London. The petitioner is a minor and brings the suit through her mother, Anna Howard.

She asks permission to resume her maiden name.

Workmen's Compensation.

Commissioner J. J. Donahue has approved the following workmen's compensation agreements: C. M. Robertson Co., Montville, employer, and Michael Kozlov, Montville, employee, fingers on right hand injured, compensation at rate of $6.50.

Grotton Iron Works, employer, and John Rubin of New London, employee, contused wounds of foot, compensation at rate of $14.

"I suppose prohibition has made you a little lonely."

"It sure has," replied Uncle Bill Pettitop. "Nobody notices me any more. The 'ols don't even point me out as a horrible example."—Washington Star.
